NOTES:

1. Confidential Resources: Information disclosed is not shared with anyone without written permission of the individual.
   a. Exceptions include:
      i. Per CANRA - (Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act): Child (17 years or younger), elder, or dependent adult abuse is suspected or disclosed
   b. There is reason to believe there may be an imminent risk of harm to you or others
2. Discussions with a CARE advocate are always confidential and are privileged in cases of sexual assault and domestic violence. Under California law, “privileged” means that a relationship exists between the advocate and the client that protects communications from being shared with anyone outside of CARE. This privileged protection includes the ability for CARE to challenge a subpoena to share your information or file. The client is the only person who can waive this “privilege.”
3. Office of Ombuds is an additional Confidential Resource on campus. To learn more about the services offered, visit: https://ombuds.ucsb.edu/
